Three Cottagers Fight Forest Fire

Three members of the Catemacoma Lake Cottage Owners Association have been credited with slowing the advance of a Gold Lake forest fire last week and saving a number of cottages.

The trio, Bill and Randy Judge and Darland Wager, used their own fire pump to battle the Cavendish Township blaze until a Ministry of Natural Resources unit crew was brought to the scene by aircraft.

The crew, fresh from the completion of their training course that same day, brought along a pumping unit and hand tools and were on the scene only 15 minutes after the fire call was received.

Fanned by 40 to 60 mile-an-hour winds, the fire destroyed one cottage before it was brought under control.

62 INVESTIGATIONS NO HOLIDAY FOR POLICE

Victoria Day weekend was no holiday for Ontario Provincial Police at Minden, where a whopping 62 accidents and other occurrences kept police at a busy pace.

Although officers investigated break-ins, liquor violations, thefts and malicious damage, the weekend's toll was led by traffic accidents and infractions. Most serious was a Sunday evening accident, on Highway 208 that sent 12-year-old Lloyd Barry of Oshawa to hospital with critical head and chest injuries.

Taken to hospital in Haliburton, Mr. Barry was later rushed to Scarborough Community Hospital, Toronto, by ambulance where an emergency operation was performed later that evening. The accident occurred when the Barry pick-up truck went off the road on a curve and struck two rock cuts.

Investigation by Provincial Constable Terry Brown. Early Saturday afternoon a pick-up truck driven by Victor Spensky, 73, of Minden, was struck by a van pulling out onto Highway 208 at Minden.

Driver of the van, Donald B. Cameron was charged by police with failing to yield.

Investigation by Provincial Constable Ray Telford.

CANOISTS BRAVE RAGING, ICY WATER

A two-day kayak and canoe slalom competition on Gull River's Horseshoe Falls stretched into Monday last weekend as scores of entrants braved the fast and icy waters. Occasion was the first annual Horseshoe Falls Slalom with teams competing in various classes on a 700 yard-long course featuring some 30 gates through which successful boats must pass. Enveloped in foam and raging currents these boats had their problems getting through one of the 30 gates.

HERE AND THERE

Fenwick Finch

By now you've seen the picture of the two toads in a book that was on the front page of last week's issue — this new picture took by B.H. Foote shows a small boat with two young muskrats in it.

I have been watching the sons of these young muskrats grow for several weeks now. The little beaver swimmers came to the water and this miniature boat with the two in it is quite an eye-stopper.

One time I seen if there were only this young (ad) I'd like to see the back — a week or so later he was found by a young girl sitting in the front with one hand on the water. Next time I seen them two boys they was all mixed up in the centre of the boat like a family's breakfast. By the looks of the joints on the boys' wrists this new mode of the Haliburton High School seal seems like — Haliburton is for lovers. I'm glad to see when this last picture was taken these young people had not yet to be normal.

Wally McMillan is to be complimented on having the imagination to set this up — it has caused a lot of comment.

No matter how long you live in a place you always find important events that occur right under your nose. Living in the Fenwick House for 17 years I never heard the following story.

I was up to the Registry Office the other day to get a little work done when Bruce Rockery, who is one of them that works there set — "Fenwick, you have done missed the most important story about the Clergy House."

That so? I asked: what is it?

I was born there, replied Bruce.

So what? I replied.

Oh the lawn? answered Bruce.

Seems like about 23 years ago Bruce was about to go home. Dr. Agnes Jamieson has stopped into the Rockery and run a check on him and said he wouldn't be around for another couple of hours and that she'd make a couple of calls and be right back. Now Bruce decided not to wait and shortly after the good Doctor had left he was on his way — they had gotten out of the house onto the lawn by the side door when Bruce decided the time had come. Then the father was adashin' around the lawn, quite nowhere in particular, by this time he was being assisted by J. O. Jaccott. In the meantime back at the house Bruce had arrived ably delivered by Carline Fleming — so that's the story as Bruce remembered it to me at the Registry Office. They also managed to save him and — O-Sorry about missin' that item Bruce. You know how joined the famous.

Speaking of "Haliburton is for Lovers" I met the young artist who done the design — Philip Barber who has just bought the old Russell farm down at the corner of Highway 121 and 519. He's a competent artist and will be doing more of his work as time goes on.

That's it for another week — you've gotten by one long week and hang in there and drive keertal like and you'll get to see a great deal more of the County. "Haliburton is for Lovers" drive with care and think on this. If you drink don't park, accidents cause people.

SOIL IMPORTANT WHEN PLANTING TREES AND SHRUBS

Trees and shrubs are extremely rugged plants and can survive in almost any type of soil. However, if they are to produce strong, vigorous growth, they require a rich soil around their roots at planting time, says D. R. McNeill, horticultural specialist, Ontario Ministry of Agriculture, and Food.

In good soil, dig a hole large enough to allow the roots to spread out naturally. If some of the roots are extremely long, they can be cut back without damaging the plant. If the soil is poor and needs to be replaced, dig the hole larger than is needed. For most plants, 18 inches both ways is sufficient, but larger roots will require a larger hole.

Set the plant in the hole at about the same depth it was in the nursery and carefully replace the soil. Shake the plant gently to get soil around all the roots and press down firmly. When planting is finished water well.

Good rich soil should not need fertilizer. If it is required, never place it in the hole near the roots. Apply it instead in a band around the plant after planting and water it in.

Careful attention to these details during planting gives trees and shrubs a head start and helps to ensure healthy vigorous growth.

THE NATION'S BUSINESS

by William Scott M.P.

The House of Commons debated a government bill last week that seeks to limit the sale and use of electronic listening devices and other equipment used to intercept private communications, such as telephone conversations.

The bill has passed second reading and is now before the standing committee on justice and legal affairs, for clause by clause study. This kind of protection for the public privacy is long overdue, and with a few minor changes in wording, this bill could be the answer to a very serious problem.

Over the years, some companies have been developing electronic listening devices, or wiretapping devices, of ever increasing sophistication, and most of this equipment is available in the marketplace to anyone who has the price. For the most part it is intended for police use, but as in almost everything else of this nature, it has been adapted to the use of criminal elements in our society.

Most of the points set out in the present bill have been debated in one form or another for the past three years, but the government has hesitated to table a bill because of the controversial nature of the subject.

On the one hand, police departments have long felt that only they should have access to electronic eavesdropping equipment, and they have insisted that they should decide for themselves when it should be used and for what purpose. Police spokesmen have backed up this argument by pointing out that being able to listen in on private conversations is one of the most potent weapons they have at their disposal.

On the other hand, groups and individuals involved in civil rights and related causes maintain that even police departments should be restricted to some degree as to how and when they resort to wiretapping and other types of electronic snooping. They point out that giving anyone blanket authority to engage in such activities invariably leads to abuses of the privilege.

However, the ease with which the average citizen can purchase and operate such equipment now requires that the whole question of snooping on others be covered by specific legislation and laws. Many leading law enforcement officials now support the view that policemen should have to satisfy a judge or comparable official of the necessity to use a snooping device in the investigation of a crime, and to get separate authority to use it in each and every case.

It has been suggested that only in this way can we be assured that the use of electronic and other listening equipment will not fall into disuse and abuse. This view is supported by the majority of members of parliament, and so it is along these lines that the present bill has been drawn.

It has not been easy to arrive at a formula that will satisfy both the opponents and the proponents of electronic snooping. It is vital that parliament erect safeguards against unauthorized invasion of individual privacy and against the use of snooping devices by criminal elements, especially in organized crime. But, parliament must at the same time recognize the wisdom of allowing police departments to avail themselves of an effective means of gathering evidence in their investigations.

In the present bill there is provision for law enforcement agencies to apply to the attorney general of a province or to the solicitor general of Canada, for permission to engage in wiretapping or other electronic eavesdropping in the investigation of known or suspected criminal activities. This should satisfy the legitimate requirements for such usage, and also to protect against unauthorized snooping.

EDITORIAL

with Bill Fotheringham

There's been quite a hue and cry raised these past few weeks over the use (and by implication, the misuse) of government aircraft by Premier Davis and members of his cabinet.

Type of notorious indignation coupled with fervent fingerpointing have had their full measure of attention in both the Ontario Legislature and the press.

But is there really anything wrong with government leaders using a government plane for a weekend trip or holiday? They, along with opposition leaders, carry a heavy burden these days and must keep a constant touch with their offices, ready to return at a moment's notice.

In addition, as Ontario Resources Minister Leo Borman pointed out, they must be constantly alert to threats against their lives.

To have special vehicles available to them seems entirely reasonable.

One of the society's continuing problems seems to be the unemployment situation. Sometimes it gets better, sometimes worse. One thing, though, it always seems to be with us.

It's a problem today, as we all know, yet oddly enough there is, at the same time, a very real shortage of labor in some fields. Farming is one. The nursery business is another.

In fact, one firm, The McConnell Nursery Co. Ltd. of Port Burwell, was unable to fill a Minden customer's order this Spring because of, amongst other things, a labor shortage.

According to the company's letter in which it was accurately turned down the order, there is an extreme shortage of labor in this area.

The 52-year-old firm said it currently employed over 300 people but needed 500 and had tried every means it could think of including Manpower.

We have not been successful in finding nearly enough people to meet our needs, it pointed out.

Obviously, there must be other things more attractive to the unemployed than working, particularly the type of work done in nurseries and on farms.

Could this alternative be the combination of today's shorter eligibility period for unemployment insurance benefits and the increased ease with which welfare benefits can be obtained?

A fairly common topic in and around Minden, even amongst those who've been here for some time, is the need for one or more after-hours restaurants and snack bars. From 5 p.m. until breakfast time it's virtually impossible to get so much as a cup of coffee within a 20-mile radius, possibly even further.

The first good all-night restaurant in the area will prove a boon to residents, motorists and truckers alike.

Once the word gets around there should be no lack of business. We'll all patronize it regularly. And one other thing better have lots of parking for all the transports.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

May 1, 1973

Dear Editor

On March 25, 1972 Prime Minister Trudeau said, "If the majority of people living in this area even if only fifty-one percent, didn't want this airport, then we wouldn't proceed with it." He was speaking at Pickering.

Since that time the Federal Government has proceeded rapidly with the expropriation of lands for a second Toronto International airport at an estimated cost of six hundred million dollars (first phase).

A recent poll by Peter Rea, columnist of the Toronto Star, showed fifty-six percent of the people in Metro Toronto were against the airport, twenty-six percent were in favour and eighteen percent were not sure.

In addition, three-quarters of the elected Federal members have stated they are against the second airport. The insistence by the Federal Government on building an unwanted, unwanted airport can be based on only one proposition — so vast a sum of Federal spending will attract votes and support to the Liberal Party in an area which is dominated by the Conservatives and N.D.P. Such hypocritical use of this time of national need for houses and other social priorities is an act of political cynicism.

Yours very truly,

C. M. Godfrey

MAYFEST ATTRACTS 800

Some 800 festive holiday-goers packed Minden's new Community Centre Saturday evening for the Minden Kinsmen Club's second annual Mayfest.

Transformed into a typical German beer garden, the newly-decorated building had tables complete with brightly checkered tablecloths and flowers, surrounding a central dancing area in front of the stage.

On stage was a famous Oshkosh Band from Kitchener, Ontario, which managed to give even the latest hit parade numbers a delightful beer garden touch.

Of course, copious quantities of subs, plus peanuts and pretzels were on hand as well as cold meats, sauerkraut and cheeses.

A great club effort by the Kinsmen and their wives, the evening's proceeds will go towards the club's pledge of $15,000 to the community centre and other welfare work.

MYSTERY BODY FOUND BY BOYS

Remains of what appears to be a long-interred human body found in Minden on the bank of the Gull River by playing youngsters Sunday have been sent to Toronto for analysis and, hopefully, identification. Exposed by erosion at a depth of about four feet was part of a skull, ribs, teeth and other bones. The mystery body was discovered by Steve Wrightman, 10, John Baker and Greg Brown, both 8 years old, while the trio were playing along the riverbank. Here the three boys (l. to r.) John, Greg and Steve, probe around a protruding piece of bone with a small stick.

Fly Line Problems Solved

If there has ever been a subject about which most fishermen are continually puzzled, it is fly lines. It seems that no matter what system is devised, trying to determine which fly line is right for any one rod is difficult.

The problem is compounded by the fact that as the amount of line being cast increases, the performance of the rod usually decreases. What might be the right weight line at 30 feet can be too heavy at 50 feet, resulting in poor casting.

There is a balance point, says Red Fisher of Mercury Boards, and finding this helps solve the line dilemma. Fly rods operate on a "spring-like" power. This power can be described as the amount of force necessary to bend the rod, and the amount of force delivered as the rod springs back. A fly line must weigh enough to bend the rod, setting the spring in action, on the line can be rolled forward.

If the line doesn't weigh enough, it is impossible to use the full power of the rod, and casts fall short of their intended mark. If the line is too heavy, it drags the rod down with a loss of power and a cast that heaps upon itself, again falling short.

The average fisherman can follow the rod maker's recommendations, since these are designed to let the rod perform satisfactorily under most situations. But the really dedicated caster wants to match rod and line to the length of cast he needs most often.

The lads at Mercury suggest you begin by purchasing a tapered line in the weight recommended by the rod maker. Work the line out to the distance you feel is needed for most of your fishing. If the line is too heavy, replace it with the next lighter weight. If it is too light, trim a foot or two off the tapered end. As you trim line, its weight relative to its length is increased. You'll probably find the best balance point somewhere between 30 and 50 feet.

Stedmans Swamp Gooderham 40 - 1

In the second half of the regular season on Monday night the Raiders did everything but run Gooderham out of the field. They had the new entry of the league completely demoralized as they nearly found their batting eye and hit the ball all over the place with Floyd Henry hitting two homers and John Whelan and Mark Shell were the winning pitcher as he threw a 4-1 shutout, while Dale D. was the loser. Ott Burke and Dwight Thomas umpired the game.

Guilford Edge Stedmans 6 - 5

In the close game Sunday night at Guilford the Raiders lost a squeaker to the Guilford boys. George Nichols led the winners with two home runs that proved the difference in the edge. Guilford looks as if they will be a strong contender in the league this year with Sid Cooper and Ken Sawyer taking over the starting chores this year. Craig Smith was the winning pitcher, Mark Shell the loser. Wes Sawyer and Don Shaw umpired the game.

Dominion Thump Irondale 12 - 1

Led by pitcher Jack Snell, who 12 strike-outs the Shufflers completely dominated the Flyers on Sunday night at Irondale as the locals took over first place in the league. Bill Smith at the plate was Dave Dollo's partner and Bill Devereaux with three hits. Snell was the winning pitcher while George Simmons was the loser. Tim Hancock umpired the game.

Shufflers Trounce Flyers 28 - 2

On Monday evening at 5:00 p.m. in the first game of a double header, the Dominion team completely dominated the Irondale boys to take both ends of the weekend games by large scores.

Jack Snell was the winner again while Gary Simmons was the loser. Everyone was hitting well for the locals with Gary Brommer, Neil Buz and Dave Dollo all hitting home runs.

Cliff Burke and Danny Syme umpired the game.

APPOINT COMMITTEE TO STUDY FARM CLASSIFICATION

The Hon. William Stewart, Minister of Agriculture and Food, has appointed an Advisory Committee of six persons who will study and make recommendations on Farm Classification in Ontario.

The terms of reference of the Committee are to study and to make recommendations to the Minister respecting:

- a) the feasibility of classifying farms, types of farms, or farm operations in Ontario; and
- b) the application of such a system of classification to Ontario legislation affecting farm operations in Ontario.

In announcing the appointment of this committee, Mr. Stewart said:

There are many Legislative Acts, programs, and policies administered by a wide number of ministries which affect or apply to farms and farmers in Ontario. The nature of farming itself has changed considerably over the years and the industry has become so diversified that it becomes difficult to determine what is meant by such commonly used terms as "farm", "farmer" or "farmland". Mr. Stewart concluded his remarks by stating that "this committee brings together a group of men and women who understand the complexities that face the agricultural industry and are capable of developing practical and meaningful recommendations".

"TEST-TUBE" CATTLE ALMOST HERE

Super-fast breeding of superior test-tube cattle is a practical possibility, according to Good Farming Magazine.

In simple terms the idea of embryo-transfers is to obtain as many calves as possible off a genetically superior cow by surgical means. The fertilized embryos are transferred from the good cow to less superior recipient cows for the duration of the term.

To make the technique feasible, the donor cow is treated with a fertility drug to stimulate multiple egg development. Five days after successful artificial insemination, the embryos are taken from the donor cow in quantities of 10 or 12 and transferred to other cows. The calf is blood typed and registered as the offspring of the original sire and dam. If all goes well, with this new technique, up to 30 genetically superior calves from one excellent cow can create a fine dairy herd in a very short period of time.

But, this is only the first step in a scientific process which, Good Farming says, "can advance veterinary medicine into new frontiers." Other possibilities include the production of twins, predetermination of sex and long-term storage of embryos.

The development of growing and maturing eggs outside the cow will eventually lead to fertilization in a "test-tube" where the embryo will continue to grow until it is ready for transfer or long-term storage.

COMPENSATION BOARD CLAIMS TOTAL $76,967 IN '72

Toronto — A total of $76,967 claims were processed by the Workmen's Compensation Board in 1972, according to the board's annual report tabled in the Legislature last week. This figure represents an increase of more than 10,000 claims over the previous year.

More than 87 per cent of all claims, during 1972, were paid within five working days of the initial report of the accident to the board, the report noted.

Total benefits paid amounted to $161 million, some $24 million more than in 1971.

Almost 40 per cent of the claims represented lost-time accidents.

FLUTING OR FISHING?

Music hath charms to soothe the savage — Dnr. — fishermen. For Oshawa, fluted Chuck Hazelton, age 19, a large rock major in the middle of the boiling Burchell Falls rapids north of Peterborough, seemed an ideal place to practice his flute and soak up some Victoria Day holiday weekend sun. While no direct relationship between the fluting and the fishing was established, at least two six-pound pickerel were caught in the immediate vicinity. (Staff Photo)
